Paris' 'New Look' for Men Embodies Prune-Color Coat

PARIS.—There's a "new look" for men which has been unveiled here. It includes plunging purple neckline and all.

It's all because tailor Gaston Waltener believes man today is in a state of "vestimentary inferiority." Then Waltener showed an audience what he would do about it.

Four young men from the conservatory of dramatic arts—there were no male fashion models who would hold still—turned and walked about to show such confidence-boosting ensembles as:

A black ski outfit, with red paisley scarf and green laced boots.

Finger-length coats.

Alligator skin shoes with inch-high crepe soles.

A purplish, prune-colored dinner jacket with a "plunging neckline"—plunging to the middle of the stomach.

Most poisonous comment came from a British reporter: "If I'd known this was coming up, I'd have worn my dungarees."

High School Chatter

Greetings, folks! Are you an up-to-date individual? You just can't be if you haven't heard that....

The Monogram Club is sponsoring "A Variety Act" and a play, "The Blue Jeans Girl." This double-feature will be presented Monday, December 5 at 8 o'clock. The proceeds will go toward the payment on the new basketball uniforms.

The boy's and girl's teams will both take the floor Thursday night in Concord in a rousing game of basketball. The cheer leaders will be there to ring out our good old school spirit just as they did on the football field. Don't you think we should back them the best of luck?

The high school enjoyed a movie Friday, depicting "Historic Virginia."

It seems ages since we have had Canteen Party, but now that we have seen the football team through a successful season, we'll call an "about face" to the canteen parties. To start things rolling, we are to have a canteen this Friday night.

Preparations are under way for the annual Christmas Pageant. There have been hints that this year it will be even more beautiful, with the new scenes that have been added.

From the sound of things you would think we are too busy for a little every day gossip, but we are sure. Why just the other day, Clifton found time to eye a certain eighth grade girl and Waverly Carter too occupied to talk to Mr. Bobby and Nina, don't you see by now you are to study in the library? Could it be the old flame still flickers, Fay?

Since it would take the entire paper to tell you the happenings at H. S., we had better stop now, and will be back next week.

This will be their last chance to take davantage of this opportunity between now and December 31, they and their families would lose the protection which this insurance provides.

W. T. Puckett, of Hixburg, outwitted a huge hawk last week-end, and on Monday came to Appomattox with the evidence. He trapped a hawk measuring 54 inches from wing tip to wing tip.

The hawk killed one of his hens late Saturday. Shots from Mr. Puckett scared him off. Then Mr. Puckett set a steel trap and covered the trap with feathers from the dead hen. Sunday when the Puckets returned from church, the hawk was found safely in the trap.

Farmers Vote On List Of Committeemen

Over 100,000 Virginia farmers will be eligible to vote in the annual PMA farmer committeemen elections to be held throughout the state on Thursday, December 15. At this time, according to R. B. Bridgforth, chairman of the State Committee of the Production and Marketing Administration, they will select a committee of three farmers in each of the state's 438 communities to administer agricultural programs during the coming year. In addition, farmers will choose a delegate from each community who will meet the next day with other community delegates to elect a similar three-man county committee for each of the 99 agricultural counties in Virginia.

In emphasizing the importance of the forthcoming elections, Bridgforth said the farmer-committeemen today are faced with greater responsibilities than ever before in administering the wide number of programs that come within PMA's scope. He pointed to the Agricultural Conservation Program, which includes nearly 70,000 participating farms, embracing about 10 million acres of Virginia farmland. Furthermore, he noted that PMA committeemen are responsible for Government price support purchase and loan programs on grains and other commodities, grain storage programs, acreage allotments, marketing quotas, and the Federal Crop insurance programs.

"Committeemen have a big, forcut out for them," said our farmthese Bridgforth said. "Only the ablest, wisest, and most representative farmers can properly do the job, and it is up to farmers in this election to see that such men are chosen."

Polls will be open all day on December 15 from 8:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M., at the following places:

Clover Hill District: Old Court House and Hix's Store, Hixburg.

Southside District: Appomattox Court House.
